There will be no extension of inspection period. There has been a lot of confusion within the past few weeks about the possibility of extending the inspection period under the new Motor Vehicle Inspection Law. In discussing this possibility with R. L. Morgan, Director of Motor Inspection he stated, "We do not plan to have any extension of the deadline. The public has had ample time, although there are still many Mississippians who have not complied. There are only a few days left and many people attend to this promptly they will not have their cars inspected on time."

He continued, "The inspection is gone very well up to this point but many drivers will find themselves without inspection stickers if they don't submit their cars soon. Beginning the first of July, officers start enforcing the inspection law. The absence of a sticker will make the driver of a vehicle using Mississippi roads on highways liable to a fine up to $50.00 or up to six months in jail."

Commissioner of Public Safety, J. H. Anderson was asked about inspection deadline being extended and he replied, "There is no sufficient notice made to the public. There has also been a lot of time allowed for everyone to comply with this law and their vehicles inspected. There will not be any extension of the inspection period under the Motor Vehicle Inspection Law."

SOIL CONSERVATION NEWS

Hot weather is here for the summer. It seems. Corn crop and pastures are 'looking real' good as a result of good warm weather. That is a condition all of us should be proud of. Crops, generally speaking, are in good shape, but what about those farm livestock water ponds. They provide a good crop of fish if properly tended to. Yes! They need fertilizer too! Just as the corn and cotton does. If you can see a white object 18 inches under water in that farm pond of yours, it needs some good commercial fertilizer in it. Now is a good time to take care of it. Besides, the fish needs to be well fed if they are to produce and furnish food for you. Besides that they are easier caught, if well fed. Don't belly it! Try it, the cost would be less than an out of the farm two day fishing trip. A good fertilizer to use is 8-8-2 or 16-16-4 at the rate of 100 pounds each ten days until the water turns dark blue. When you can't see your finger tips elbow depth, then you have fertilized enough. By the way, if bream or bass are needed for stocking your pond they can be had for free if supply is available. Make application at the County Agent's office, or come by the Soil Conservation Service office.

TIME TO CHECK YOUR DRIVERS LICENSE MANY EXPIRE JUNE 30

An essential part of every highway patrolman's job is to check drivers' licenses regularly. You would do well to check your own driver's license right now. You may be among the 106,000 Mississippians whose license expires at the end of June.

Renewals for the December and March driver's licenses have been progressing very well according to A. M. Smith, Director of Drivers Licensing but there are still many people without a current license. Don't let the deadline slip up on you. Check now.

The renewal window at Highway Patrol headquarters in Jackson will be open Saturday, July 1 from 8:00 a.m. until 4:45 p.m.

for the convenience of those who work during the week or do not have any other opportunity to renew. Licenses can be renewed for either a one-year or two-year period. You can apply for renewal of your license to any sheriff's office or City Clerk's office. Don't let your license expire. If you are stopped and are driving with an expired license the fine can be much more than the renewal fee. Check your license now and renew on time.

This family is the victim of hot weather stalling—one of three infuriating troubles that can strike your car on sizzling days. Super Shell's Hot Weather Blend fights all three.

HAPPY JULY 4th?

Fight hot weather stalls with Super Shell's Hot Weather Blend. Famous 9-ingredient formula now adjusted for top performance when highways sizzle.

You can get Super Shell's Hot Weather Blend at any Shell station on your route this weekend. Read how it just might save you a lot of trouble.

Engines, like people, can suffer from heat prostration. Especially in the kind of hot and heavy traffic you may face during the weekend ahead.

Here are three infuriating troubles that are caused by excessive heat—and what Super Shell's Hot Weather Blend does to fight them.

How Super Shell fights hot weather stalls

If your engine sputters and dies on a hot day, it may have an ailment called vapor lock. Hot weather can make certain gasolines start to boil right in the fuel line. They literally bubble. Vapor lock takes place when the bubbles choke off the fuel supply.

Shell scientists attack vapor lock by revising Super Shell's nine-ingredient formula in summer.

They reduce its volatility. This produces a Hot Weather Blend of Super Shell that's not likely to boil in your fuel line. It cuts the chances of hot weather stalls to a minimum.

How Super Shell fights hard starting Here's what can happen when you try to re-start your car after a hot drive.

With the fan stopped and the cooling system idle, intense heat under the hood can actually make gasoline percolate in some carburetors. Just like coffee in a pot.

The gasoline spills over, floods the engine—and makes it hard to start.

Super Shell's Hot Weather Blend is formulated to stand high temperatures without percolating. You get quick starts even after a long, hard, hot drive.

How Super Shell fights rough idling

The same trouble that causes summer starting difficulties can give your car the shakes every time you stop for a traffic light.

Super Shell's Hot Weather Blend attacks both problems the same way. Its formula is adjusted so that it's in no hurry to boil and bubble. Result: smooth idling in hot weather.

Shell trouble-shooter

Your Shell dealer will be glad to prepare your car for summer driving. His trouble-shooting may save you hours of delay on the road.

And ask him to fill your tank with Super Shell's Hot Weather Blend. Then you will really be set for top performance.

Super Shell's 9 ingredients for top performance

- #1 is TCP*—for power, mileage, and longer plug life.
- #2 is "cat-cracked" gasoline—for power.
- #3 is anti-knock mix—for knock resistance.
- #4 is Alkylate to control "high-speed knock".
- #5 is Butane—for quick starts.
- #6 is Pentane mix—for fast warm-ups.
- #7 is an "anti-icer." (Added when cold weather sets in.)
- #8 is gum preventive—for clean carburetors.
- #9 is Plurimate for extra mileage.

*Trademark for Shell's unique gasoline additive. Gasoline containing TCP is covered by U.S. Patent 2889212A.

COUNTY AGENT'S NOTES

O. O. SWORDS
County Agent

In driving around over the county, I find that considerable damage is being caused by Webb Worm or Tent Caterpillars. These Caterpillars are subject to attack any type plant that we find growing in the woods, lawns or orchards.

Recommended Control is dust with 5 to 10% DDT, or 5 to 10% Chlordane, or 20% Toxaphene. Or spray with 50% DDT wettable powder - 3 tablespoons to 1 gallon of water, or 50% Sevin wettable powder - 3 tablespoons per gallon of water.

Be sure and get good coverage of insecticide on the plants for good results.

Be sure and try to kill the worms while they are small as small worms are easier to kill than larger worms.

Before spraying, wrap newspaper around the end of a long pole and set fire to the web.

For further information, contact the County Agent's Office, Hometown 7-4631.

To decide where you need to adjust spending.

For income tax reporting.

For financial planning.

For self-discipline or a curb to impulse buying.

Unless you actively use the records you keep, there is little point in keeping them. Good accounts don't necessarily mean good managers. It's using accounts to make needed adjustments that pay dividends.

STATION STUDIES
SULFUR NEEDS OF LEAFY VEGETABLES

Future soybean may have growth of some Mississippi crops, but Experiment Station studies show no evidence that leafy vegetables are affected.

Since Mississippi is a potentially sulfur deficient region and in view of recent changes in fertilizer manufacturing, experiments were set up to study the long range effects of sulfur added to the soil on cabbage and related vegetable crops. The work was cooperative with the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

The experiments began in 1954 and ended in 1960. They were located on Verona sandy loam, shallow phase soil, which was low in sulphate sulphur. Eight different treatments were used to test the response to sulfur in varying amounts.

Dr. E. L. Moore, leader of the project, reached the following conclusion:

"On basis of these experiments it is apparent that cabbage, turnip and collard plants obtained adequate sulfur from the soil studies to satisfy their requirements."

"In general about five pounds of sulfur were supplied to the soil in rainwater each year. The soil also absorbed an unknown quantity from air. Some investigators report the sulphur absorbed from the air equals that brought down very low in some."

HOME
AGENT'S
NOTES

MARCIA P. HUGHES
Home Demonstration Agent

Ice cream could be an even more popular dessert than it is now.

Home makers need to know more about the nutritive value of ice cream.

Ice cream is generally well liked, is ready-prepared and easy to serve.

Would you mark "true" or "false" by these three statements about ice cream?

You get a perfect score if you mark "true" for all three of them.

They are conclusions from a study of 808 Mississippi homemakers by Dr. Dorothy Dickens of the Mississippi Agricultural Experiment Station.

Dr. Dickens also found many homemakers want to serve a dessert that is distinctive and gives variety and individuality to the menu, especially when they have guests. Many like to add their own special touch to the dessert rather than serve it just as it came from the store. For this reason, many of the women said they didn't serve ice cream for "company dinners."

The homemakers who regarded ice cream as "fattening" often don't know the other favorite desserts rate higher in calories.

Ice cream is not as fattening as many kinds of pie. Eight ounces of plain, factory-packed ice cream has 255 calories. But a 4-inch section of apple pie has 330 calories and the same size piece of lemon meringue pie has 300 calories.

One fourth cup of ice cream, or a small helping, has about 100 calories.

Ice cream is a good food for calcium, a point worth considering when planning meals for growing children, Dr. Dickens said.

KEEP AND USE RECORDS

Success in keeping family financial records often depends on little things. Things like having a suitable record book, a pencil in a convenient place, clips to hold bills, receipts or notes, or a file to put bills and receipts in to keep them.

All members of the family should be encouraged to save bills and receipts to the person keeping the records.

You can use your family spending or expense records to:

1. Analyze family progress toward its goals.

2. Plan for the future.

3. Check on the family budget.

LETTERS

TO THE EDITOR

Editor,
Hancock County Eagle
City.

Dear Sir:

On behalf of all of us who are interested in the newly formed Hancock County Association For Retarded Children, I would like to thank you for the prominent coverage given the news article in last week's paper concerning the organization of this association.

While much has been written about it during recent years many people are still almost completely uninformed on the subject of mental retardation.

Surprising to most people is that there are an estimated 5,000, 000 retarded in the United States.
That is approximately 3% of our total population. Mental retardation is nine times more prevalent than cerebral palsy. There are ten times more mentally retarded than there are permanently afflicted polio sufferers.

Modern research has given us a great deal of information on the subject. We know that any family, no matter what its economic, cultural, educational, racial, or religious background may have a mentally retarded child. There are at least 10 known or suspected diseases or mishaps occurring before or during birth or in early childhood that may cause mental retardation.

Space does not permit more on this subject. May I take this opportunity, however, to appeal to the general public for their support. Membership is open to anyone interested.

Yours very truly,
Warren Carver, President Hancock County Retarded Children's Association.

Savings and Loan Associations Show Gains

Mississippi Savings and Loan Associations received more savings in May than in the same month a year ago according to the Federal Home Loan Bank of Little Rock, Arkansas. Their lending volume also rose from the corresponding month in 1960.

The Federal Home Loan Bank report covering the activity of the 34 Mississippi members of the system shows the associations added

Forestry Bank Set
To Help Landowners

Mississippi's Forestry Bank—a new state agency created by the 1960 Legislature—was established to help landowners with funds for treeplanting and timberland improvement.
This is the fourth column in a five-part series of questions and answers about the Forestry Bank.

Q. Does the Forestry Bank manage the timber?

A. No. Management of the timber will be done by the Forestry Commission, under terms of a timber lease which must be signed before any development work can be done on the timber or on the land.

Q. What is a timber lease?

A. A timber lease is a written agreement between the landowner and the Forestry Commission covering the terms under which the Commission agrees to manage the acreage for the period of the timber lease.

Q. For how long must a landowner lease his timber?

A. Each lease must be for at least 10 years, but may be for a period of up to 20 years.

Q. Why does a landowner lease his timber to the Forestry Commission?

A. The Forestry Commission is staffed with people who are trained in forest management. Commission personnel are in position to give the best advice and technical help in the management and development of timber on the millions of idle acres in Mississippi.

The Forestry Commission is the proper agency to administer this phase of the program.

Q. Why must a landowner lease his timber for at least 10 years?

A. A stronger economy for Mississippi is one of the objectives of the Forestry Bank. Timberlands, properly managed, can be a big help. With a 10-year minimum timber lease period, a landowner has assurance that his timber will be supervised until it has the potential for bringing him substantial income. This provides benefits to the landowner and to the state's overall economy which were intended at the time the Forestry Bank law was enacted by the 1960 legislature. Under proper management for at least 10 years, Mississippi's timberlands in the Forestry Bank program can develop into a stronger resource in our agricultural economy.

Q. Does the lease expire as soon as the development costs are repaid?

A. This will vary with each lease. Development costs may be repaid in full at any time before the lease expires, but the timber lease must remain in force for at least 10 years.

Q. After the timber is leased, when can the landowner start getting income from it?

A. The landowner may receive personal income from his timber as soon as all development costs and service charges are repaid.

Q. If land is already mortgaged, can the owner still get help from the Forestry Bank?

A. Yes, a mortgage on the land will not necessarily prevent a landowner from getting assistance from the Forestry Bank, provided the mortgage holder will execute a subordination of the mortgage, on the timber only, to the extent of the development costs. In addition, if there is a debt secured by the land upon which the timber is growing, which is not more than 50% of the reasonable market value of the land or timber, the Board may authorize leasing of the timber and approve the application without a subordination of the mortgage in favor of the Board.

Q. Can a landowner lease the mineral rights to his land if there is a lease on the timber?

A. Yes.

Q. If a landowner has timber to sell now, can it be cut?

A. Yes, provided the cutting is carried out according to the timber management plan and in accordance with terms of the lease agreement.

Q. Can the landowner sell his land at any time?

A. Yes, he may sell his land at any time. However, if he should sell his land, the purchaser should bear in mind that he is bound to the timber lease agreement which has already been signed. By law, the timber lease with the Commission is not subordinate to any transfer of title and will remain in effect regardless of who owns the land.

Q. Can a landowner cancel the lease?

A. Yes. If the landowner wants to do so, he may cancel the timber lease any time after 10 years, providing all development costs and service charges are repaid in full.

Q. What must a landowner show to prove he owns the land?

A. He must obtain a 31-year title certificate from a licensed attorney in Mississippi.

Q. Does he have to live on the land?

A. No, it is not necessary to live on the land in order to receive assistance from the Forestry Bank.

FORESTRY
NOTES

It pays to know the law before buying or selling any standing timber. The law referred to is known as the Forest Harvesting Act.

Some timber operators have learned about this law the hard way — by paying out some hard cash. A few have even faced a court injunction to bring compliance with the law.

Briefly, the law states that no one shall cut for commercial purposes any timber without leaving the required seed trees.
In case of pine at least four seed trees must be left on each acre.
These must be at least ten inches in diameter. As an alternative, at least 100 trees four inches or more in diameter may be left on each acre in place of the required four seed trees.

In hardwood timber at least six seed trees ten inches or more in diameter must be left. These trees must be of the same species as those being cut. The cutter may leave 100 or more trees at least four inches in diameter in place of the seed trees.

The purpose of the law is to prevent our timber lands from being denuded and made unproductive. Actually, these seed tree standards require the minimum size and number of trees capable of producing a satisfactory stand of seedlings under ideal conditions.

People who are growing timber to meet their own needs can grow a good stand of timber on the land to maintain continuous production. Reputable timber producers are guided by a recognized timber management plan. They follow good management practices and are guided by the law.

Timber operators who do not follow the law are putting their timber lands in jeopardy. They are risking the future of their timber lands. They are risking the future of their income.

Prospective Watermelon Production

Production of Watermelons in Mississippi as of June 1st is forecast at 578,000 hundredweight.
This compares with 375,000 hun-dredweight produced a year earlier and the 10-year (1950-59) average of 820,000 hundredweight.
Yield per acre on June 1st is indicated at 55 hundredweight, slightly over the 50 hundred-weight in 1960. The crop made good progress during May, and harvest is expected about the first week in July and will continue until the middle of August.
